

Paul Kammer is 6-years-old from Nashville, Tennessee. He is currently in the first grade where he enjoys legos, drawing, and Teen Titans. He just moved to France with his family and misses his friends back in Nashville. He wrote the Robofish because he thinks lava and giant squids are cool.

---

ROBOFISH AND THE GIANT SQUID

by Paul Kammer

On the whole planet where the Robofish live, their favorite thing is lava. It's cozy and keeps them warm. They love their lava planet. The world is purple and the lava is bright pink. One day they see a giant spaceship land on their planet, and then, millions of giant squid come out and try to put water on the lava planet to turn it to rock. So, the Robofish used their giant strong tails to slap the squids, but the squids were too powerful. So, all the fish tried to combine their tails to make a mega Robofish.

The Robofish have been working together to make a giant fish to fight the squid for 3 years. They are tired, but they know they are also strong. The leader of the Robofish is the largest of them all; his name is Paulocous. Paulocous led a team of scientist Robofish to create an invention that will stop the squids from putting water on the lava.

They used their mega Robofish to hit the squid, but the squids were too powerful. The Robofish love their lava planet because the pink lava is their favorite. They want to protect their planet because they never want it to be destroyed. They love being cozy and warm. They are mad because the giant squid are trying to take over their planet.

The squids came from a planet called Megasquidolympos, where their king forced them to go all over the universe and turn all the planets into giant rocks so the squids could have an enormous rock kingdom.

Suddenly, a rumble. It's the squid king! He has arrived to see why the squids have not come home. Paulocous and his team punched the king away, and the squid king flew into space away from the lava planet. With the king gone, the remaining squids used their water blaster.

The water blaster started to turn the lava into rock. But then, the Robofish decided to summon their lava monster who vanquished the giant squid, and the Robofish won their planet back.

The end.