Favorites From The Year

by Imogen Knox

In January I like to play with presents from the month before,
I also set foot in my garden to explore.
In February I do my work from school,
I don't like it but my teacher says it's cool.
In March I love to swing and swoop in the park,
and then I have an ice cream scoop!
In April I like to prank and laugh,
but someone always gets me back.
In May I don't know what to do, but something always comes to me,
like finding an old picture and learning its story.
In June it's fun anyways because this is my birthday,
I'm surrounded by gifts, so what do I do?
Oh, I play all day and there's nothing you can say.
In July I find it fun because in school we have some birthdays.
Their parents tell them don't bring in their toys,
but a kid or two always sneaks them in.
In August it's sometimes misty which I love because it looks spooky!
In September people get ready for the frightful night ahead, some people screech while others are not bothered.
I can't wait for my favorite part which is of course the sweets, or maybe the costumes? Maybe it's trick or treating with friends...? I can't wait for it all!
In October decorations are up with pumpkins, bats, and spiders, once that's all done a quiet month ahead.
November may be crazy for others but for me it's really not.
Finally, the cold, snowy month, December,
one of my all time favorites!
I love sledging, building snowmen and sometimes snow dogs!
And once it's done you're back to the start with a new...year!
