

Shreya is a 13-year-old poetry enthusiast who enjoys writing Haiku, Free Verse, and the occasional Limerick to express herself artistically. When she is not writing, her other hobbies include playing the piano, reading, and taking walks outside in nature.

Lobelias

by Shreya J. Singh

Blooms,
in a small
earthen pot
outside.
Delicate indigo flowers
so bright
they almost
glow
when
sun touches
their petals.
Started
as seeds
but slowly
grew,
took root,
held fast,
through

harsh sun,
pouring rain,
blustery wind,
scorching heat
but always
blooms
with joy.