

Get ready for greatness! Issue 10: Folklore/Mythology holds tales, artwork, and pictures to last the ages!

If you're new to our story, Lit Kids Magazine has a mission to spotlight the talents of 5 to 13-year-old creatives. We publish four issues annually featuring writing, art, and photography from all around the world. Our mentors spend a month guiding the children in editing their pieces for publication. As such, these awesome kiddos get a peek behind the publishing industry curtain, as well as publishing credit under their belts.

For Issue 10: Folklore/Mythology, our young authors, photographers, and artists added their own unique twist to plenty of beloved classics. Peruse these pages to find adventures with Little Red Riding Hood, Goldilocks, a slew of Greek heroes and villains, famous mythical creatures, and so much more. We are so impressed by the ingenuity of these gifted kids in re-imagining characters we already know and love. Folklore and Mythology stand the test of time, and we think these young creatives will do the same. One thing is for certain: it's readers like you who make myths immortal. Carry the life lessons and themes in Issue 10 with you and share them with your family and friends.

Also, please help us congratulate these talented children on a job well done! We're proud to add Issue 10 to the Lit Kids Magazine collection. If these creative endeavors resonate with you, pass them along. And keep shining!

Happy Reading,

Rebecca Weber

Lit Kids Magazine's Mentor-In-Chief

P.S. Is there a talented 5 to 13-year-old in your life? Please point them to our website and subscribe to receive updates about future issues and open submissions. Young minds deserve a platform to be recognized. Submissions open on a quarterly basis and we're excited to feature new talent in upcoming issues. As always, thank you for your continued support.