

Lyra is an avid pianist whose favorite pieces to perform include "Golden" by Kpop Demon Hunters and Beethoven's "Für Elise." When she is not jamming out on the keys, she plays travel ice hockey; on the ice, she carries the nickname "Bear" for reasons that require no explanation. In between these passions, Lyra loves making art and, of course, writing stories.

Like a Quirk
by Lyra Mahay

Once, there was a rabbit that lived in a cabin, and his name was Charlie.

His neighbors all had quirks and he did not.

But he had something like a quirk.

He had something important:

he could write.

He made story after story after story!

And once he retired,

he retired with a smile on his face;

but since he loved writing,

he kept writing

and he kept going.
